Tea Wine

Tea wine is a unique fermented beverage made by combining tea leaves with sugar, water, and yeast to create an infusion that ferments into wine. It has a distinctive flavor profile blending the earthy, aromatic notes of tea with the fruity, complex flavors of wine. Tea wine can be made with various types of tea, like black, green, or herbal teas, each imparting a different taste. It's often low in alcohol, mildly sweet, and enjoyed for its refreshing taste and subtle tea essence.
